GANGS EXTERMINATED

Drunk Convict Issues Defiant to the Whole World Standing on His Scaffold.

TAHLEQUAH, Okla., April 29.—Few people, comparatively, realize how many outlaws were wiped out in Indian territory days and by citizens of the territory. While the following is by no means a complete list, it will show that the number of men slain in what is now eastern Oklahoma was enormous.

One of the first, as well as the worst gangs of outlaws was what was known as the Barker and Karpis gang, the headquarters of this organization of thieves and murderers having been at the mouth of the Kiamichi. Among those killed by the gang was "Old Man" Rogers and a companion, who were sent to the gallows as great desperadoes from Tulsa, 19 years ago. The gang was exterminated by James Connelley, sheriff of the Chickasaw district, and a posse composed of Cherokee citizens.

There was Dick Glass, one of the most notorious outlaws of the period. Glass was a negro, whose home was in the Creek nation. His name, according to old citizens, meant terror. The specialty of this "bad nigger" was cattle stealing, though he had no hesitations about killing any one who stood in his way. For a long while he terrorized the country but eventually Deputy United States Marshal Charles McCallan and Samuel Siskiller took the trail and followed the negro to near the Arbuckle mountains and in the fight which followed the outlaw was shot to death. Both McCallan and Siskiller were Cherokee citizens.

The "Karpis" gang, which robbed the Chickasaw bank and committed numerous crimes in the territory, was finally "rounded up" by Sheriff Ed Sanders and posse of the old Cowessacoos district, and literally wiped off the face of the earth. Despite the fact that Sanders had rid the people and community of the reckless and desperate gang, the sheriff was arrested by an officer of the United States court at Fort Smith, Ark., and was placed on trial for his life before Judge Isaac C. Parker, but was acquitted. Queen and his companions in outlawry are buried in a corner of the Virginia cemetery, and with that strange inclination for lawless characters which troubles some citizens, Queen has been referred to as a "fine man."

Wesley Barnett, a Creek citizen, and his notorious band of outlaws created a reign of terror for some time in their section of the territory, but a posse of Creek and Euclyps Indians, led by the noted Wallace Mack, came upon the gang at a house in Okmulgee. In the battle which ensued the outlaws were exterminated, but the reward of $100 offered for the capture or death of each of the outlaws was never paid.

Rogers, leader of an outlaw band, "gave his men away" they being captured or killed by Fort Smith deputies, and he himself received a commission as deputy marshal, but was soon after shot and killed by a citizen while attempting a robbery. The Dalton brothers were at one time deputy marshals of the United States court for the western district of Arkansas, with headquarters at Fort Smith. They were often in the Indian territory, but were wiped out by citizens at Coffeyville, Kan., with the exception of Bill Dalton, who was killed in the territory by officers who located him in a lonely house in the hills.

Lon Gordon and Henry Munson, members of the Cook gang, were overtaken and slain by Hec Robbins, Jesse Allen and some other Indians, while James French and Jesse Cochran, also members of the band, were killed at Calusa while robbing a store.

The notorious mulatto known by the name of "Cherokee Bill," although he was a native of Texas, was captured alive by two negroes, Isaac Rogers and Clint Seales, after the outlaw had been watched nearly all night so that he could be caught off his guard. Isaac Rogers was afterward killed at Fort Gibson as he stepped off a train, by a brother of Crawford Goldsby, alias "Cherokee Bill."

Buz Lucky and one Reed, notorious robbers and murderers of Deputy Newton Laforce, were finally run down and captured by a Creek negro, and "Progg" Davis, a Cherokee, who was eventually hanged in the yard of the old Cherokee national prison in Tahlequah for the murder of Sheriff James Muegrove of the Cowessacoos district, was captured by William and John Wilson. These men turned their prisoner over to a deputy marshal named Smith and the latter received the substantial reward offered for the capture of Davis. The latter, when

Discovery Amazes Scientists

At a meeting in St. Louis of the American Chemical Society Miss Irene Diner, the only woman member of the younger section, announced that she had discovered how to tell how many miles auto tires will go. Miss Diner is 25 years old and a graduate student in New York university. She received a $10,000 cash offer for her discovery and gave it outright to science. She is a daughter of the professor of chemistry in Fordham university and is a graduate of Columbia university.

he mounted the scaffold in Tahlequah, made a speech in which he stated that he was the bravest man who ever stood on the gallows. There were some citizens who adhered to that belief, but it transpired some time after the execution that Davis had been so plentifully supplied with red whiskey that he "didn't have sense enough to be afraid."

Bad Trainer, who grew up in Tahlequah, and entered upon a wild and reckless career, was finally killed by some negroes in the Cowessacoos district, while Bill Chewie, a desperate fullblood Cherokee, was killed by a Cherokee scout.

DENY ANTI-AMERICANISM

Play Broken Up by Mob in London

—Blame it on Ennity to Manager.

LONDON, April 29.—A gallery mob broke up the first production of Bartlett Manner's play "A Night in Rome" at the Garrick theater tonight. The curtain was lowered soon after the start of the second act. Manager Charles Cochran said he would not permit Miss Laurette Taylor to proceed in the face of such disturbances. The audience dispersed amid a great uproar.

John W. Davis, American ambassador, was in the audience.

Employees of the theater advanced the opinion that the trouble was organized by enemies of Mr. Cochran, and that it was in no sense an anti-American demonstration.

AWARD PAVING CONTRACTS

To Pave Sunset Park and Kendall

—No Bids on West Tulsa.

The city commission at its regular bi-weekly meeting this morning is to let contracts for paving in Sunset Park and Kendall. There were no bidders for the West Tulsa projects, and on only one street, Sixth street, in Kendall, when bids were opened at Tuesday's meeting.

No bids were received for paving alleyways conformed with the city engineer's estimate of $2.50 a yard.

Strong Women

By Dr. Valentine Mott

Women and men too —are just as strong and healthy as their blood. It is likewise true that a man or a woman is as young as his or her arteries. Vigor and health come with good blood. Without good red blood one has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, if one is generally weak, tired and listless, a spring tonic should be taken. One that will do the spring housecleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Cherry Bark, without alcohol, and made into both liquid and tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by the million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 60 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for free book on blood disorders, or for free medical advice.

PEACE ACTION URGED

United States Chamber of Commerce in Resolutions Demand Action—Oppose Cash Bonus.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 29.—The chamber of commerce of the United States, at the closing of its eighth annual convention here tonight, went on record in favor of a "constructive Americanism," urged that a treaty of peace "should be placed in effect without further delay" and adopted a resolution opposing a cash bonus for soldiers but favoring immediate provision for disabled or sick soldiers or their dependents. The opposition to a cash bonus for soldiers, originally had been drafted and approved by the resolutions committee in more comprehensive form, calling attention to the alleged danger of certain classes of labor "standing work" if created a cash bonus, thus disturbing industry, causing further increase in prices of necessities and resulting in decreased production.

The country's problem, can be largely solved through proper regulation, thereby restoring proper relations between supply and demand," a resolution said. "In aid of increase

DEVOE MARBLE-FLOOR VARNISH

UNCOVERED, unfinished, inside floors catch dirt, holding it in cracks and crevices. Use DEVOE MARBLE FLOOR VARNISH and secure a smooth surface dirt cannot penetrate. Won't scratch white and is easily cleaned.

Dublin, Va.—Mrs. Sallie Huggett, of Route 2, this place, recently related her interesting experience in recovering her health, saying, "when I came on I was in a very bad condition and nothing the doctor gave me did me any good. Some say you have to let this take its course . . . but I knew there ought to be something to give relief. I was nervous, weak and pale. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good, and felt I couldn't stand this very long."

"I heard and read of Cardui, and how it had benefited other women in the same condition, so decided to use it myself. After my first bottle I felt better, so of course kept it up, and it did the work."

"It helped me as nothing else did. I began to pick up right away. I ate and slept and could rest. I knew I was getting better. I kept it up and it did wonders for me."

Thousands of women, suffering as this Virginia lady did, have used Cardui with equally happy results, and voluntarily relate their experiences so that others, troubled with disorders common among women, may learn to take Cardui.

ed production and to enhance its benefits, economy must become a cardinal principle with all of our public authorities, federal, state and local and must be practiced by every citizen.

"If government and business," it added, "it is essential that our government should scrupulously refrain from entering any of the fields of transportation, communication, industry and commerce or any phase of business when it can be successfully undertaken and conducted by private enterprises."

DEEP TEST WELL IS WILD

Oil Set Fire and Rig Destroyed at Duncan Yesterday.

DUNCAN, Okla., April 29.—Blowing in suddenly with sufficient force to break electric globes on the derrick and set the oil afire, the Texas deep test well in Section 12-6, 18 miles east of Duncan, this morning "went wild" this morning.

Drillers were running casing at 1,935 feet when the gas pressure shot out high into the air and all over the fields for some distance. Sparks apparently from the electric wires ignited the great oil and gas flow and the rig was burned before the fire could be put out. The well was shot in late this afternoon.

noon. No estimate of either oil or gas production has been made on this well.

Scores of oil men from Duncan and other nearby places were visiting the well today.

Not Cheapened With Alum—Leaves No Bitter Taste—Always Wholesome

Soft Corns, Hard Corns—Gets-It Gets 'Em All!

No Corn Can Withstand "Gets-It"—Peels 'Em Off Painlessly

Why "monkey" around with various corn experiments? If you don't want that corn, just put a few drops of "Gets-It" on and be done with it. Pain stops on the instant—corn gone in a hurry.

Corns and "Gets-It" Can't Live Together

"Gets-It" discourages corns—makes 'em let go and loosen up so they lift off, root and all, without your even feeling it. A few drops does the business any time of any day or night. "Gets-It" dries instantly, so your hose and shoe can go right back on. It takes but a few moments to doom a corn with "Gets-It," and there's no more hurt left in it after a few drops have landed on that corn.

Why stand another twinge? What's the use of suffering? It's time you showed that corn who is boss. So show it with "Gets-It," the painless, quick corn getter that knows no such thing as failure.

"Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed money-back corn remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Tulsa and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Kendall Drug Co., Shackle Drug Co., Younkman Pharmacy.—Adv.
